

M'ADOO BACKS UP GREENMAN

THEY COME TO COURT LOADED WITH ALLEGATIONS.

Magistrate Corrigan Waves Them Aside and Says He Will Let Somebody Else Hear Case. Chief Magistrate says Essex Market Bar Bumpers Reform.

When Albert Corrigan was arraigned yesterday in the Essex Market court, of which he is chief clerk, charged with oppression in refusing to accept eight quarters in payment of a woman's $2 fine, he was represented by Assistant Corporation Counsel Cornelius J. Collins, who said that he had been assigned to the case at the request of Chief Magistrate McAdoo. Mr. McAdoo was in the court room but sat among the spectators. Assistant District Attorney Buckner appeared for the prosecution and was assisted by Deputy Assistant District Attorney Medaille, who drew the complaint. When the case was called Magistrate Corrigan settled back in his chair and said:

"There has been a certain amount of absurd talk about plots and conspiracies in connection with this case, and I do not wish to preside unless the defense is willing."

"I was just about to make a motion on that matter," said Mr. Collins, blustering before his affidavits, and started to recite from them the causes why Mr. Greenman, who is a brother of James Greenman, head of the Civil Service Commission, objected to Magistrate Corrigan.

"There is no necessity for you to read your papers, Mr. Collins," said the court. "I am perfectly willing to grant Mr. Greenman's request."

Mr. Collins wanted to have the causes for asking for an adjournment put on the record, but Magistrate Corrigan adjourned the case on his own motion and refused to allow the affidavits to be filed, saying it was up to the prosecution to take up motions with unswearable parties.

The papers rejected were affidavits by Albert Greenman, Chief Magistrate McAdoo, Philip Bloch, McAdoo's chief clerk, and others, and several letters which seemed to fix Deputy Assistant District Attorney Medaille as the storm center.

The first affidavit by Greenman alleged偏见 on the part of the Magistrate Mr. McAdoo's affidavit said that in carrying out the reorganization and reform of the police courts he had met with great opposition and difficulty in the Essex Market court. Rules preventing lawyers and others from going inside the court or entering the court room were introduced ten years ago and had been bitterly opposed.

"On or about the latter part of September last," says the affidavit, "Mr. Greenman encountered the opposition of an Assistant District Attorney named Medaille, who prior to that time had had several controversies with Court Captain Dunlop, and who was then president of the delegation ten years ago and had been bitterly opposed."

Farrell denied that Gordon was to get any part of the profits of the club and says he has been fully repaid for his services.

TROOPS TO CHANGE STATIONS.

Negro Regiment at Fort Ontario Ordered to Manila on December 5.

ETC.—Nov. 20.—The Twenty-fourth United States Infantry, colored, stationed at Fort Ontario, Oswego, and Madison Barracks, Sackets Harbor, will entrain on November 28 for San Francisco from which place the regiment will sail on December 5 for Manila, via Honolulu and Guam, on the transport Logan. Companies Gant and Haf, the Fifth Infantry, now stationed Plattsburgh Barracks, have been ordered to take station at Madison Barracks, arriving twenty-four hours before the departure of the outgoing troops.

A company of the Fifth Infantry has been detached from Fort Porter at Buffalo to go to meet the battalion of the Twenty-fourth stationed at the latter place.

Both Madison Barracks and Fort Ontario will be garrisoned by the Third Infantry upon its arrival next April, when the companies of the Fifth and Twenty-fourth will return to their old stations.

Seven Months Strike Duty for Cops.

For nearly seven months policemen have been doing strike duty in the neighborhood of several machine shops along the riverfront in Jersey City, guarding on their way to and from work men filling the places of machinists who threw up their jobs last May to enforce a demand for an eight instead of nine hour day. The pickets daily patrolling the streets in front of the plants are compelled to continue their activities by gazing through windows at whirling machinery, owing to the vigilance of the cops, who allow no interference with the workmen. The strikers insist that their former employers will be obliged to give in sooner or later, but the bosses say there is no strike and their machines are a contested lot of men with permanent jobs.

Schenectady May Have a Daily Socialist Paper.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Schenectady may have a socialist daily newspaper. Louis Copelin, press representative of Socialist organs throughout the country, is authority for the statement that daily newspapers under the direction of the National Socialist party will be started in Schenectady, Newcastle, Pots, Los Angeles and San Fran. In addition to the Schenectady "Tribute" a Socialist weekly owned and edited by Dr. George R. Linn, Mayor elect, doubtless will be made a daily publication.

Another Body From Flooded Mine.

ROCKAWAY, N. J., Nov. 20.—The second body to be recovered from the Upper Hibernal mine was brought up this morning. It was that of Michael Kompa, who got as far as level 13 when the water overwhelmed him. There are still ten bodies in the mine, which was flooded by accident on October 19. The level of the water in the mine has been lowered by the pumps from 350 to 50 feet and it is not thought that any more bodies will be found until the latter part of December.

Complain of Mr. Wilsey.

Ask the Mayor Not to Reappoint Him to Education Board.

The Mayor received a call yesterday from a committee composed of Bernard S. Deutsch, George M. S. Schulz, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Sampson, Thomas Callahan and one or two others who came to object to the reappointment of Commissioner Wilsey, as a member of the Board of Education. They said that he was not courteous or attentive to the neighborhood associations that made known their wishes to him, and that he refused to listen to the parents of pupils. It was learned that this was not the first complaint of the sort that has come to Mr. Gaynor.

Boxing Case Thrown Out of Court.

The case against Thomas F. O'Rourke, Jay E. Wilson and Pat Healy, who were charged with promoting a prize fight last June at the Amsterdam Opera House, was thrown out of Special Sessions yesterday. Detective Larkin, who got into the mill by "becoming a member" of the National Sporting Association and paying $2 for "membership dues," said he O'Rourke did nothing, but that Healy was acting as referee. The Court said he had no case. The point that Larkin witnessed was between Morris Harris and Jim Smith.

Alderman Marx Sues for Libel.

Alderman Samuel Marx of the Thirty-third district, who was not renominated this year, filed suit in the Supreme Court yesterday to recover $40,000 from Joseph H. De Laney for libel. Marx alleges that when he was a candidate for reelection in 1909 De Laney had published a card headed, "To the Voters" which had Marx's name widely, and which stated that Marx would be defeated because of his treatment of Joseph Freiss.

Old Guard Evacuation Day Parade.

By order of its commandant, Major S. Ellis Briggs, and in compliance with its by-laws, the Old Guard will parade in full winter uniform and with muskets, on Saturday, November 25, to celebrate Evacuation Day. The assembly will be bounded at the headquarters, 229 West Fifty-first street, at 1 P. M., and after marching down Broadway and Wall street, will hoist the Stars and Stripes on the Battery flagpole while a national salute is fired.

Triangle Waist Trimmings.

Max Blaneck and Isaac Harris, the proprietors of the Triangle Waist Company, will be tried before Judge Crane in General Sessions on December 4 for manslaughter.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Triangle Waist Trimmings.

Max Blaneck and Isaac Harris, the proprietors of the Triangle Waist Company, will be tried before Judge Crane in General Sessions on December 4 for manslaughter.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue to act as Commissioner, however, and occupy his present office.

Commissioner Shields a Year Older.

United States Commissioner John A. Shields observed his seventy-second birthday yesterday. He will retire as clerk of the Federal Circuit Court on January 1, after serving for fifty-six years in that capacity, and another Mr. Shields will continue